Fair Care
Employee Benefits

The 1999 Finance Act introduced a tax exemption which allows employers to provide employees with bicycles and accessories as a tax-free benefit. Employees joining the scheme will enjoy savings of up to 42% of retail value.

The scheme operates via salary sacrifice, which means that payment for the bicycle by the employee is by way of deductions from gross pay, typically over a 12 month period. This gives rise to tax and national insurance savings for the employee and national insurance savings for the employer too. The exemption applies as long as the bicycles are used, at least in part, for journeys made between the employee's home and their place of work.

Fair Care is delighted to be offering the scheme in conjunction with a wide variety of bicycle retailers, giving great flexibility and access to almost any make of bicycle.

Finance can be arranged for the purchase of the bicycles and accessories, which minimises any cash flow implications.

The Fair Care Approach

The Fair Care service is fully-comprehensive, aimed at maximising uptake whilst keeping your involvement to a minimum:

- Full support is given, from the initial consultation through to the conclusion of the scheme.
- Fair Care will provide all the necessary marketing material, application forms and legal documentation, either in electronic or paper format. This material will be tailored to your requirements and will be branded with your logos.
- As well as arranging on-site launch days and presentations, support is given through the Fair Care helpline, which is available to all employees for the duration of the scheme.
- Fair Care will process all documentation, liaising direct with the bicycle retailers to ensure orders are processed quickly and efficiently.
- A scheme report is provided for payroll purposes, identifying scheme members and indicating the amounts that need to go through payroll as gross pay deductions.
- The Fair Care Cycle to Work Scheme is compliant with HMRC, DfT and Consumer Credit Act regulations.

Fair Care has developed a simple, fully outsourced solution for employers wishing to implement this benefit, with any costs being more than covered by the employer's national insurance savings.
